

Lava Lands Visitor Center
Exhibit and Architectural Design

Client
Deschutes National Forest
US Forest Service

Location
Bend, OR

Size
3,000 square feet

The US Forest Service engaged LCS to design exhibit and architectural upgrades for the Lava Lands Visitor Center at Newberry National Volcanic Monument near Bend, Oregon. The LCS team — collaborating with Stastny Brun Architects of Portland — created a colorful exhibit, focusing on the geology, wildlife, and volcanic history of central Oregon, while designing a new lobby, performance hall, and office addition for the building.

